Career Services for UX Practitioners

New resume review, portfolio critique, and interview preparation added as coaching services to the UXSubscription offering, from Garofalo Studios, in August 2017.

REDLANDS, California – August 2017—UXSubscription is a subscription-based service offered by Garofalo Studios. In August 2017, a new suite of per-request services, named Coaching UX, are focused on aiding user experience practitioners in their employment search preparations.

The CoachingUX service offers a review / critique from a former corporate hiring manager of a User Experience (UX) team at a billion-dollar software company, who has reviewed hundreds of resumes to fill UX, User Interface (UI), and Usability job roles. “For many hiring managers, it has become a challenge to find strong candidates to fill UX related roles,” states Frank Garofalo, Principal Consultant at Garofalo Studios, “The CoachingUX service helps candidates to prepare for the interview process.”
